

Description:

Writing a timesheet has never been so easy. Spherical Timesheet's patent-pending logger accurately tracks the time and duration that you spend working on programs and files on your computer, unobtrusively filling in your timesheet automatically while you work. Now you can spend more time on your core work and less time writing timesheets! Spherical Timesheet will even tell you when your computer was switched on but unattended, starting the stopwatch timer for you automatically. You can also manually start the stopwatch for logging billable tasks such as phone calls, or manually delete, modify and add work entries quickly from within Spherical Timesheet. When your timesheet is complete, print it out or submit it electronically to a central company database to remove the burden of paper timesheet administration. You can export your billables directly into QuickBooks Professional to streamline your billing processes, or export actuals to Microsoft Project and keep those projects on track. Spherical Timesheet incorporates all the time tracking and management tools your business needs in a single easy-to-use package.
